

Radiance Peel Protocol

I apply the peel with my hands. One pump covers the face and neck. Any residue put on back of your clients' hands. You may use a brush if you prefer. I'm always thinking about time, so by the time you pump it in a bowl and then get your brush and slowly brush it on.....well, that's a lot of extra time spent.

Let your client know that they may feel some tingling and the smell is slightly medicinal.

Usage in Treatment:

May be used in place of the enzyme for a deeper exfoliation. Apply a thin layer of peel. Leave on for 3 to 5 minutes. Rinse well.

Usage for Treatment Series: 6 to 8 peels done weekly

Cleanse, rinse. Apply a thin layer of peel. Put green LED panel over your client and leave for 5 minutes (first treatment and then increase time to 10 minutes in next treatment and thereafter). Rinse well. Apply appropriate product (anti-aging moisturizer, hyaluronic, etc.) for client and then SPF.

If you know your client has sensitive skin only leave on for 3 minutes for the first application. Once you know that their skin tolerates it well you can leave on for longer. No need to leave for longer than 10 minutes. I tested it for a 15-minute time period. There was no irritation, but I also did not see any further results for the extra 5 minutes.

I believe that by us adding the LED to the peel series, it's yet another thing that sets us apart from other spas!

Because of the Hyaluronic this peel leaves your skin not only more tone looking but super hydrated!!

As with any product and/or peel everybody's body reacts differently. I have not experienced anyone getting red from this peel but that does not mean you won't come across a client that does get red. The redness may be exacerbated under the red LED. I recommend using green LED if your client is red. Then go over their face with the Skin Energizer in cold mode to calm the redness. They should be fine by the time you finish the treatment.
